WELCOME

For around 140 years Church Army evangelists have shared the gospel with those on the margins of society; helping to communicate God's love in word and action with those who would rarely step inside the doors of a church building. Today we stand on that proud heritage and are a mission community of men and women who work across these islands to make Jesus known, and help people know that their lives matter to God. Whether it is serving the homeless, planting a church, working with those battling addictions, explaining the Christian faith to someone who has never been inside a church building, working in schools, or making a difference on a housing estate, Church Army evangelists are living and breathing God's love in creative and pioneering ways.

We hope that this booklet will inspire you as you discern whether God might be calling you to join us. Our discernment process has been designed to help us together discern if God is calling you to be a Church Army evangelist, and our training will develop and deepen your understanding of pioneering evangelism and Church Army's DNA. We train all our evangelists in context, and you will find the mix of learning, practice and faith will be the rich soil that will help your evangelism gifts to grow.

So if you love God, love people and want to see more people love God, then come join us!

DO YOU HAVE A PASSION

to bring people to a living faith in Jesus Christ?

ARE YOU COMMITTED

to building community and sharing the Christian faith through words and action in a variety of contexts?

DO YOU FEEL CALLED to be part of a community of commissioned evangelists who are transforming lives and neighbourhoods?

INTRODUCTION

If you can answer “yes” to the questions opposite then your calling as an evangelist may lead you to join with others in mission and ministry within Church Army.

In this booklet we will outline what it means to be a Church Army commissioned evangelist and what happens as part of your discernment of God’s call. We hope that the process will enable you to see where God is calling you.

Upon commissioning at the end of initial training the evangelist will be admitted into the Office of Evangelist within the Church of England (which is also recognised by the other Anglican Provinces). This is the only nationally licenced pathway for lay evangelists and will give you excellent recognition and credibility as you continue your ministry.

If the commissioned pathway is not for you, take a look at our training and learning opportunities on page 18 and 19.

Who we are

Church Army was founded in 1882 by a Church of England clergyman to train ordinary men and women to share their faith. Today we are a mission community of evangelists authorised by the Anglican Church, people with a passion for evangelism who are transforming lives and neighbourhoods throughout the British Isles and Ireland.

We are bold, seen as trailblazers. We don’t stand still. We take risks to remain progressive. We are also down to earth, with real people on the ground, engaging in real life situations.

OUR VISION

DOING ADVOCATING RESOURCING ENABLING

EVANGELISM

For everyone everywhere to encounter God’s love, and be empowered to transform their communities through faith shared in words and action.

DARE STRATEGY

Our strategy to achieve our vision is based on Doing, Advocating, Resourcing and Enabling Evangelism across the churches of the British Isles and Ireland.

DOING EVANGELISM

Bringing people to a living faith in Jesus Christ throughout these islands is at the heart of Church Army.

ADVOCATING EVANGELISM

We are passionate about encouraging the wider Church to become more actively involved in evangelism.

RESOURCING EVANGELISM

We train people and put the right tools in their hands so that they are resourced to do what God has called them to do.

ENABLING EVANGELISM

We enable people to do evangelism in their own context by creating opportunities for them to join in with what God is already doing.

OUR VALUES

G

Generous

God is generous and we want to model that generosity to others.

R

Risk Taking

We have a long heritage as a pioneering movement, prepared to take risks and give colleagues permission to succeed or fail as they seek to do new things.

A

Accountable

We are accountable to God and others, living reliably and responsibly to high professional standards.

C

Collaborative

We are committed to partnership with those who share our values; we believe it enhances our work.

E

Expectant

We are hopeful, expecting God to do new things amongst us.

U

Unconditional

God loves everyone and everyone is significant in his eyes; we will serve anyone regardless of their age, gender, race, sexuality, ability, status or circumstances.

P

Prayerful

Listening to God, being obedient to God, we want to be like Jesus in our life and witness.

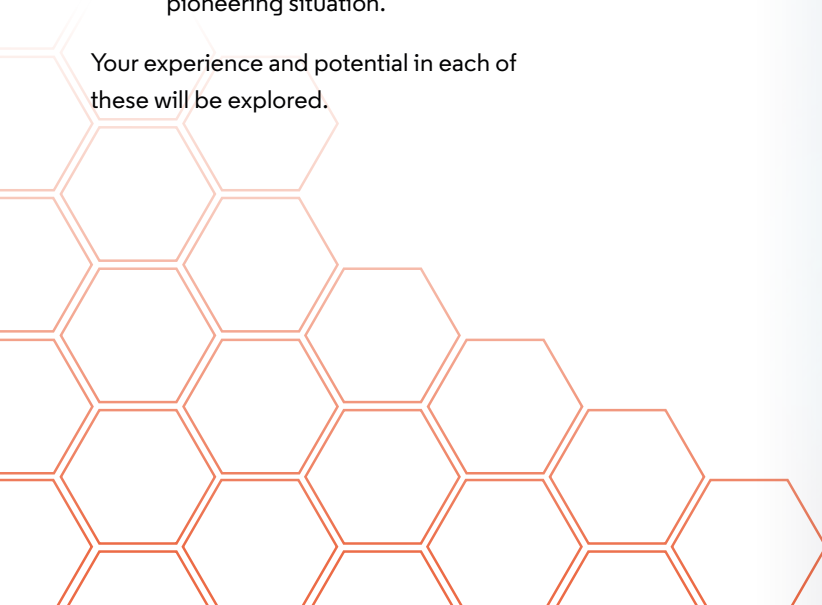

DO YOU DARE?

Church Army commissioned evangelists come from all walks of life and the range of traditions within the Anglican church. What they share is a passion for evangelism and a desire to see communities and lives transformed by the love of Jesus.

When helping potential candidates discern God's call to ministry with us, we explore three key factors:

- Personal commitment to ongoing discipleship
- How your personal vocation fits with Church Army's vocation
- Vocation to be a leader in a pioneering situation.

Your experience and potential in each of these will be explored.

The outer edge of the atoll is a dark, rocky reef with some snow patches. The bottom portion of the image shows a rugged, mountainous landscape with green vegetation and brownish terrain. A faint hexagonal grid pattern is overlaid on the top half of the image.

Four stages in the vocational discernment journey

Our discernment process is carefully designed to enable you to explore your calling and to discern whether Church Army is the right home for you. This is an ongoing process of exploration and we will work alongside you, as you seek God's will for your future. During the process, we will ask for the guidance and wisdom of others within your local church community, from the wider church and from other Church Army evangelists.

ONE

EXPLORING WITH YOU

This involves initial conversations about you and your sense of calling.

Church Army will inform your local vocations team that you are exploring ministry at this point so that local procedures can be included.

We will arrange for you to meet with a local Church Army vocations team member.

We will invite you to attend a Church Army Discovery Day event.

TWO

DISCOVERING MORE ABOUT YOU

This involves compiling a candidate profile to build a picture of your evangelism, calling, experience, training and life.

We will request and consider references and reports.

We support you and journey with you towards a potential discernment residential.

There are four stages in the vocational discernment journey. Progress is by recommendation only and alternatives are explored when necessary. The process can typically take up to 12 months before training would commence. During your three year training programme, you remain living and working in your current context. All training, residential and travel costs are covered by Church Army. Training is accredited by Durham University.

THREE

JANUARY DISCERNMENT RESIDENTIAL

This involves exploring with you, your calling as an evangelist.

Afterwards:

We may send you on a placement to visit a Church Army project.

You will be asked to complete a written activity.

You will be asked to complete a psychological assessment with a qualified counsellor, who will help us understand your capacity for ministry.

FOUR

MAY DISCERNMENT RESIDENTIAL

This involves reviewing your journey so far. We will reflect on your personal faith development; how your vocation fits with Church Army, and your vocation to be a leader in pioneering situations.

Together we will discern if training as a Church Army evangelist is the way forward.

FAQS & LEGAL BITS...

Age?

You need to be at least 18 years of age.

What about my residential status and nationality?

You need to be a legal resident of the United Kingdom or Republic of Ireland.

What if I have served a custodial sentence?

If you have served a custodial sentence, it is not necessarily an obstacle to training with us.

Relationship status?

If married or engaged, then your partner will need to be supportive of your sense of call. If single, you will need to be celibate.

If divorced, you will need to have worked through all the implications of this.

Church Army commissioned evangelists serve as licenced lay ministers in the Anglican Church across the British Isles and Ireland and are subject to the rules and authority of the church and the local bishop.

Finances?

You will need to have settled all major financial commitments and be free of unreasonable levels of debt.

Church Army cover the cost of your training. You will need to cover your living expenses.

Do I need to move?

During training you stay in your home context and will not be asked to relocate.

However, throughout your training you are able to apply for Church Army vacancies across the United Kingdom and Ireland.

THE Adventure
BEGINS

“Then I heard the voice of the Lord saying,
‘Whom shall I send? And who will go for us?’

And I said, ‘Here am I. Send me!’ ”

ISAIAH 6:8 NIV

Working as I do in a diocese that has benefitted hugely over the years - and continues to be greatly enriched - by the ministry of Church Army evangelists, I would encourage anybody who wishes their discipleship to make a real difference to the lives of others, to think of exploring the possibilities of training with Church Army. Church Army makes a tremendous contribution to the mission of the church in so many different ways and you can be part of this.

What Evangelists-in-Training say about our training

The course is tailor made for studying whilst working as an evangelist.

For me it's a safe space to develop as an evangelist and bounce ideas off like-minded people.

Training residentials are full of laughter and support, sharing ideas and experiences, and supporting one another.

You will be surprised at what you can achieve! With no previous academic qualifications, I have been impressed by the style of the training. It is interesting, varied and designed to engage and support people with all levels of academic ability.
